

Come and see some of the UK's leading Air Distribution
products at stand 26!

Solid Air[®] and Royair have joined forces

As you may have seen in the press, Nijburg Industry Group, owners of Solid Air Ltd, have purchased the Royair product range, brand name, software and manufacturing facilities. This means we can now offer you the combined product range of both companies under one name, Solid Air[®].

This purchase is part of our UK growth strategy and means we now have a manufacturing facility at Honiton in Devon that will compliment those we have in the Netherlands. Our overall team in the UK has grown to approximately 25 with new staff joining in manufacturing, technical support and sales.

Existing Solid Air[®] customers

You now have access to an even wider product range with the new Royair products currently being integrated into our literature and selection information. We will keep you up-to-date with new catalogues when they are ready.

Our new manufacturing facilities give us an even greater ability to react to requests for specials and quick deliveries from you. Operationally you will see no changes, our main office remains in Altrincham and you will deal with the same sales team and other contacts exactly as before.

Existing Royair customers

The long established and highly successful Royair range will now be available under the Solid Air[®] brand name. If you have existing projects or require to re-order products that were supplied on a previous job then we can supply you with the same items under the new name.

We are doing everything possible to ensure a smooth transition between the old organisational set-up and the new. Here are your main contacts.
